

The Good River - A Celebration of 75 Years of ORSANCO (2023)

The Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission (ORSANCO) was created 75 years ago to help combat pollution in the Ohio River. The multi-state commission is made up of eight states within the basin. The West Virginia Department of Environmental Protection is a member agency. The Good River is a look back at the organization's early years and its impact on reducing pollution in the Ohio as it faces the challenges of the future.
